PROJECT UNDERSTANDING

- The project area is assumed to be roughly 50,000 square feet of industrial warehouse space with 6,000sf of office, including 3,000sf mezzanine area.
- It is assumed that this mezzanine would have a slab on composite metal deck construction with steel wide flange beams, tube steel columns, knee braces to resist lateral loads, and it would be supported by new shallow spread footings. We would not be using any existing columns or footings to support the new mezzanine loads. There will be new doors cut through the existing precast panels. There may be RTU's supported by reinforced existing steel joists at the roof structure. We assumed two RTUs for this proposal. The proposed structural fee would be $3k per RTU, and this can be deducted from the fee below if this scope goes away.

- DkGr will submit permit drawings to Alleato Group for submission to the local building department.
